

The Coming of the New Deal

by Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr. Houghton Mifflin. 669 pp. $6.75.
 Volume II of "The Age of Roosevelt" takes one hundred pages more to cover the first two years of Roosevelt's administration than Volume I took to cover the whole preceding period from 1919 to 1933. This in itself is a testament to the intensity and significance of Roosevelt's first term, and Mr. Schlesinger's treatment captures every bit of its drama.

Sinai Victory

by S. L. A. Marshall. Morrow. 280 pp. $5.00.
 "Command Decisions in History's Shortest War, Israel's Hundred-Hour Conquest of Egypt East of Suez, Autumn, 1956" is the subtitle of this book, an absorbing recreation of the Sinai campaign and an analysis of the structure and power of the Israeli army by a noted military historian.

Egypt in Transition

by Jean and Simonne Lacouture. Criterion. 532 pp. $7. 50.
 A thoroughly researched study by two French scholars, this volume traces the revolution and rise to power of modern Egypt. The authors' learned discussion of Egypt's chaotic past, the influence of Pan-Arabism, and the subsequent emergence of Nasser and the Arab Federation is set in a context of political realities which the West cannot afford to ignore.

Foreign Aid Reexamined edited by James W. Wiggins and Helmut Schoeck. Public Affairs Press. 250 pp. $5.00.

 A group of "social and behavioral scientists" contributes a plethora of attitudes and opinions on the subject of foreign aid. Some of the papers, originally submitted at a conference held at Emory University, make the sort of cultural and semantic investigation of foreign aid problems which is too infrequently taken into account by the policy planners.

The Mind and Faith of A. Powell Davies edited by William O. Douglas. Doubleday. 334 pp. $4.50.

 A collection of papers and sermons on a wide variety of topics by the late minister of Washington's All Souls' Church who called himself "an unrepentant Liberal," this book reflects the spirit of a man who lived his religion in the cause of social justice.

The Reporter's Trade

by Joseph and Stewart Alsop. Reynal. 377 pp. $5.00.
 The Alsops have collected their most notable columns published during the twelve years of their partnership, and prefaced them with some considered and controversial opinions on such subjects as governmental secrecy and the techniques of reporting. They make a proud case for the public's "right to know" and for their own right to surveillance. "The truth is," they write, "we like a fight."

worldview

A JOURNAL OF RELIGION AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS
 volume 2, no. 1 / January 1959

WORLDVIEW is published monthly by The Church Peace Union.
 Subscription: $2.00 per year.
 Address: 170 East 64th Street, New York 21, N. Y.

EDITORIAL BOARD

William Clancy, Editor
A. William Loos John R. Inman William J. Cook
 Editorial Assistant, Arlene Croce

CONTENTS

Editorial Comment..... 1
 In the Magazines..... 3
 Politics and Utopia..... 4
 Thomas Molnar
 Diplomatic Ruptures..... 8
 J. M. Dufour
 Other Voices..... 10
 Current Reading..... 12

Opinions expressed in WORLDVIEW are those of the authors, and not necessarily of The Church Peace Union.

Worldview
 170 East 64th Street
 New York 21, N. Y.