

Bibliography of Proceedings of International Meetings Held in 1958

Union of International Associations. 400 pp. $8.00 (paper).

A systematic guide to the reports and working papers of international conferences is provided by a new series of annual bibliographies—of which this volume is the second—published in Belgium and launched with funds from our National Science Foundation. More recent bibliographic data is provided by the Union's monthly publication which, like the book, is available from its offices at the Palais d'Egmont in Brussels.

The Dimensions of Diplomacy

E. A. J. Johnson, ed. Johns Hopkins. 135 pp. $3.95.

Contributors to this symposium—McGeorge Bundy, Henry Kissinger, W. W. Rostow, James R. Killian, Jr., Adolf A. Berle, and Livingston Merchant—have set about examining "whether the quality of diplomacy is adequate for its tasks and whether the forms of diplomacy are properly structured." Among the areas they have plumbed are "Diplomacy and the New Economics" and "Science and Foreign Policy."

American Heritage History of World War I

The Editors of American Heritage. 384 pp. $16.50.

This latest picture history to be published by the book division of American Heritage weds a narrative written by military historian S. L. A. Marshall to "the largest number of W.W. I pictures ever presented in one volume." Maps and reproductions of timely paintings and sketches also appear throughout.

Atheism in Our Time

Ignace Lepp. Macmillan. 160 pp. $1.45.

Father Lepp, a French psychotherapist, says that he dared undertake a study of atheism only because of his own Marxist past. In examining "the modern varieties of unbelief," as the book is subtitled, he distinguishes between Marxists, rationalists, existentialists "and those who resemble Nietzsche, Malraux, or Camus."

Ideas and Diplomacy: Readings in the Intellectual Tradition of American Foreign Policy

Norman A. Graebner, ed. Oxford. 892 pp. $12.50.

Although the selections are presented in chronological fashion, Professor Graebner's is a "conceptual" rather than a "narrative" approach to the subject of American diplomatic history from 1760 to 1964. In his own comments to introduce each piece he traces the "analytical" and "ideological" approaches to foreign policy which, in different eras he says, have shaped the U.S. response to world problems.

What's Ahead for the Churches?

Kyle Haselden and Martin E. Marty, eds. Sheed & Ward. 214 pp. $4.50.

The editors of The Christian Century asked 17 spokesmen from the major religious denominations in the U.S., including Judaism and Roman Catholicism, to report on the question "What's ahead for your church?" Their replies, first printed in the magazine in 1963, are reprinted here in company with two articles by the editors addressed to the churches at large.

volume 7, no. 11 / November 1964

WORLDVIEW is published monthly (except for a combined July-August issue) by the Council on Religion and International Affairs
Subscription: $4.00 per year.

Address: 170 East 64th Street, New York, New York 10021

EDITORIAL BOARD

James Finn, Editor

A. William Loos

William J. Cook

John R. Inman

Charles Frankel

Editorial Assistant, Susan Woolfson

The Choice . . . Let Us Continue 1
Editorial

In the Magazines 3

A Sleep of Prisoners 5
Norman K. Gottwald

Presuppositions of Christian Ethics 8
Other Voices

"On South Africa" 11

"Morals and Strategy" 12
Correspondence

BOOKS

The Liberal, the Conservative, and the Pope 13
Michael Novak

Current Reading 16

Opinions expressed in WORLDVIEW are those of the authors, and not necessarily of the Council on Religion and International Affairs.
Copyright © 1964 Council on Religion and International Affairs.

worldview
170 East 64th Street
New York, N.Y. 10021

Return requested

NON-PROFIT ORG.
U. S. POSTAGE
Paid
New York, N. Y.
Permit No. 609

Readers are reminded that worldview welcomes correspondence. Letters may be specific comments on articles in recent issues or general discussion, but readers are requested to limit their letters to 500 words.